Chargé d'Affaires Opens NITA Advocacy Skills Conference

On January 23rd, Chargé d'Affaires Brian Aggeler gave opening remarks at an advocacy skills teacher training conference conducted by the National Institute for Trial Advocacy (NITA) in Gevgelia. This was the second such conference designed to prepare judges, prosecutors, investigators and attorneys for different procedures that will result from implementation of the new Criminal Procedures Code. The training program which will run through 2012, is supported by the US

Embassy's Office of Overseas Prosecutorial Development, Assistance and Training, in conjunction with the Academy for Judges and Prosecutors.
